The Blessed Hope

More than any time before, we are in a time where our Lord Jesus Christ's return is imminent. Perhaps no other truth in the Bible stirs the hearts of believers like the promise of Christ's return. Either it evokes fear and anxiety or it raises hope in the hearts of people.

The Second Coming of Christ is not just a distant theological doctrine. The Assemblies of God believes that the Second Coming of Christ is imminent, certain, and central to the believer's hope.

1. Imminence of Christ's Return

- Jesus could return at any moment.
- This belief is rooted in passages like 1 Thessalonians 4:16–17 and Titus 2:13, which emphasize watchfulness and readiness.

2. The Blessed Hope

- The Second Coming is described as "Our Blessed Hope", meaning believers anticipate reunion with Christ and with saved loved ones.
- It is not a doctrine of fear but of comfort, encouragement, and motivation for holy living.

3. Foundational Doctrine

- Included in the Statement of Fundamental Truths, the Second Coming is considered non-negotiable and essential to the church's mission.
- It is grouped with salvation, Spirit baptism, and healing as a cardinal doctrine.

4. Distinction from Other Views

The Assemblies of God rejects the idea that Christ's return depends on prerequisites such as:

- Worldwide revival
- Restoration of Jewish worship practices
- Rebuilding of the Temple in Jerusalem

Instead, they emphasize Scripture's teaching of a great falling away before Christ's return (Matthew 24:10–12).

5. Practical Implications

- Hope in trials: The doctrine assures believers that history is moving toward Christ's triumph.
- Motivation for Mission: Urges evangelism and discipleship before His appearing.
- Call to Holiness: Inspires purity and readiness in daily life.

These beliefs of the Assemblies of God stem from the following scriptures:

- Matthew 24:30–31 – Christ's visible return
- 1 Corinthians 15:51–52 – Resurrection of believers
- 1 Thessalonians 4:16–17 – Rapture of the church
- Titus 2:13 – The Blessed Hope
- 2 Peter 3:10–13 – New heavens and new earth

As God's people, our calling is not only to declare Christ crucified and risen, but also to proclaim His promised return. At the Communion we proclaim our faith till the Lord's return - 1 Corinthians 11:26b - "...until He comes." This living hope shapes our worship, strengthens our fellowship, and sustains us through trials. May we walk each day with eyes lifted in expectation, hearts prepared in devotion, and our lives diligently engaged in His work.
