BEAUTIFUL FEET

"How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him who brings good news who proclaim peace, who bring good tidings, who proclaim salvation, who say to Zion, "Your God reigns!"

ISAIAH 52:7

Last Sunday, we celebrated our Missions Convention. But the mission does not end with a Sunday service. It is a call to continued commitment to carry the Gospel into the world and make Christ known among the nations.

I want to draw your attention to imagine a city under siege.

The enemy surrounds the walls. Inside, people wait anxiously, wondering how the battle outside is going. The soldiers have gone out to fight, but those within the city cannot see the outcome. All they can do is wait. And so the watchmen stand on the walls, looking toward the horizon.

Then, in the distance, they see a man running. Who is he? What news does he bring? If the army has been defeated, the city is lost. But if the army has won, the city is free! As the messenger comes closer, something becomes clear. He is not running in fear. He is not carrying news of defeat. He is running with joy. He is proclaiming victory. The Lord has won! The enemy has been defeated! Deliverance has come! This is the picture Isaiah gives us.

Isaiah looks beyond Israel to a world waiting for something far greater. Humanity waits under the bondage of sin, evil, oppression, hatred, cruelty, and death. The question is: Has God won the final victory? Has the world been redeemed? Is there freedom from the bondage that holds us captive to the worst within us?

Then Isaiah gives the answer: "Your God reigns!"

The messenger comes across the mountains announcing peace, bringing good news, proclaiming salvation. And the feet of the messenger are beautiful, not because feet are naturally beautiful, but because they carry beautiful news. The New Testament tells us that this good news has found its fulfilment in Jesus Christ. Through His death and resurrection, Christ has conquered sin and death. The kingdom of God has come. Salvation is available. The world does not have to remain captive.

But there is something remarkable about God's mission: God has entrusted the message of His victory to His people. We are the messengers. Paul asks, "How are they to hear without someone preaching?" (Romans 10:14). The good news must travel. It must cross mountains, borders, cultures, languages, and oceans. It must reach homes, workplaces, villages, cities, and nations. Someone must carry the news. And that is why missions matters.

Every missionary who crosses a border, every believer who shares Christ with a neighbour, every church that sends and supports workers, every person who faithfully speaks the gospel is part of this great announcement: The King reigns. Christ has won. Salvation has come. There is hope!

The watchmen are still waiting. There are still people who have never heard the good news. There are still communities waiting for someone to bring the message. There are still people living under the siege of sin who need to know that freedom is possible through Jesus Christ.

So let us go. Let our feet carry the message. Let our lives become messengers of the gospel. And may it be said of us:

"How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of them who bring the good news."
